Anglo-Saxon timeline

Who were the Anglo-Saxons?

The Anglo-Saxons were a mixture of people from Holland, Germany and Denmark. When the last Roman soldiers left Britain in 410, they came in ships across the North Sea. The Anglo-Saxon age in Britain was from around AD410 to 1066.

How do we know?

The Anglo-Saxon people left all sorts of evidence of their way of life. Many buildings have survived and archaeologists have found a range of objects. Objects range from tools and cooking pots to weapons and jewellery. There are also some fascinating written records, including manuscripts. All sources show us how people lived in England a thousand years ago.
